Here's what we're doing in April

* Parachute into the Jungle Week: We get to play with the parachute, escape dangerous animals, and climb to safety!

* Auto Week: we'll race our cars, steer clear of trouble, cruise around the bus like low riders and more.

* Aladdin Week: Fly on the magic carpet (zip line) Monkey around on the walls and monkey bars, and swing away from the palace guards.

* Backwards Week: we'll be doing all of our skills, songs and even our class structure backwards!

Parents, Teachers, and Directors:

Bus classes are starting to fill up once again, and they are filling up quite quickly! Our limit is 10 children on the bus per class. If demand for our classes is higher than that at a center, we will try to open a second class, though if we're not able to schedule another, we will continue with our waiting list policies and take on new children as soon as positions become available.

Quote of the month

Children love and want to be loved and they very much prefer the joy of accomplishment to the triumph of hateful failure. Do not mistake a child for his symptom.

Erik Erikson

April's Word of the Month!

Manners

We will be talking with the children during our lessons about what manners are, why we use them, and what it would be like without manners.
